The Weather Bureau Promises Warmer As usual that merciless individual who popularly held responsible for the state of the weather is endeavoring to shift the responsibility upon somebody else, and to an anxious STAR reporter he stated this morning that this time the Saskatchewan valley was at the bottom of, and wholly respon-sible for, the very frigid snap of weather with which the citizens of Washington and the adja-cent cities contended last night and today. The indignant people will hardly be able to wreak their vegeance upon the Sas-katchewan valley, for the reason that it is not within their jurisdiction, the romantically named and apparently very frigid locality being in the British northwest territory of North America. But the cold wave will soon have passed away and the matter will quickly dropped, for accor small dinner party last night preliminary to the the authorities at the weather bureau the present cold snap reached bottom early this morning and is rapidly passing away to the northeast. The weather will moderate consid-erably between now and tomorrow evening, night at the New York Avenue Church. Rev. Dr. Bartlett performed the ceremony. The ushers, Messrs. M. D. Hensey, W. B. Robinson. J. C. Nesbit and C. C. Kent, jr., preceded the bride up the aisle. She entered with her cousin, Mr. Lyman A. Ford of Boston. Miss Nellie Walker was the only bridesmaid. She wore an empire gown of white crepe and carried a bonquet of La France roses. The bride wore a trained gown of white begaline trimmed with point lace. Her tulle veil was held by a spray of lilies of the valley, and she carried a large cluster of the same flower. Nearly all the guests in the upper pews were in evening was carried to Florida, where heavy frosts were all the guests in the upper pews were in evening dress, as they were going to the reception later given by the bride's mother, Mrs. Ellery C. A Policy Man Sentenced.

George Graham is the name of a colored mar who can neither read nor write, but his ignorance did not save him when he was charged in Judge Miller's court today with promoting policy. He admitted that he was connected with the game indirectly, and when closely questioned he said he got his wife to write some of the rows for him. He was given four months in jail without fine.

The Mistake Corrected.

James Lee, alias William Jordan, a colored boy, was brought into the Police Court this morning and committed to jail on a charge of housebreaking. He was tried in court several days ago and there were two prisoners there of the same name. This particular individual walked out and left his namesake to pay the penalty for his crime.

When the mistake was discovered the alarm was sounded and the fugitive was captured last night by Policeman Kimmell.

It was unanimously agreed to ask the return of the present pastor, Rev. Dr. James McLaren. A good deal of informal talk was indulged in with eference to the new church building.

THE PROPOSED ODD PHILOWS' LODGE For a long time there has been a dispositio on the part of the Odd Fellows residing on this side of the river to organize a local lodge. The matter has taken on definite shape, and an Anacostia lodge of Odd Fellows will be instituted on the third Saturday of this month.

The prime movers in the scheme have been Messrs. J. K. Davison, James H. Harrison, jr., and D. C. Fountain.

APPEALS FOR AID. The police are receiving hourly application for alms. Numbers of the cases are ones worthy of aid. The officers have no funds to grant the urgent requests and the provisions donated by Merchant Thomas Gray have been used. Sergt. Kerby and his men are anxious to relieve some of the distress and the charitable people of the town are invited to send in groceries and the like. As a rule the people of the village are under the belief that no suffering Exists here, but the police say this is wrong. There are not many cases of destitution in the town proper, but there is plenty of room for charity in the outlying districts. THE RECHABITES.

To the Editor of The Evening Star:
The most uncomfortably cold cars in the District are those run over the Anacostia road. The managers do not even put straw in them, and during this late cold snap they have been fairly icy all over the floor and draughty from the doors, so that passengers necessarily mak-ing the trip from day to day have in several in-stances taken terrible colds or been ill. Of course the superintendent of the road has, as a result, had no end of compliments, but there are those who begin to think that "hints to conductors" or private "growls" do no good, and that a word of outspoken indignation will express the feel-ings of many Anacostians on the subject of these filthy and cold cars. There is also a placard these filthy and cold cars. There is also a placard up in these cars which reads, "Please do not spit on floor; cleanliness is a virtue." Notwithstanding certain gentlemen (?) almost daily spit pints of tobacco juice in the corners or on the floor unrebuked to the disgust of the lady passengers. It is time "whoever spits on the floor will be put off by the conductor" took the place of that mild invitation to be "virtuous."

Shot Dead While Fiddling. Joseph Davis, an old man of about seventy years, was murdered near Gadsden, Ala., Monday night. He was sitting by the table in his little farm house playing a fiddle when an assassin shot h.m through an augur hole with a 38-caitter pistol. The old man died as he sat there and was found yesterday morning by his daughter. Suspicion points to his son-in-law, but no motive has yet been fixed on him.

A MYTHICAL INVENTOR

Last evening the trial of George G. Schroe der, charged with false pretenses, which had been before the Criminal Court since the 28th of last month, ended in his conviction. The jury retired at 3:50 yesterday afternoon, and, districts and the druggists who prepare the not having reached a verdict at 5 o'clock. Judge McComas directed a recess until 9 o'clock, when

Cole stated that it was not a question between the prosecuting witness and the defendant, as ded by counsel for the defense, but one etween the United States government and the defendant. In other words, it was an effort on that charge was that Schroeder, by falsely rep-resenting to Mr. Charles Newbold certain mat-ters, had obtained through such false represen-tations a certain sum of money from Mr. New-The false pretenses, explained the district attorney, consisted in this, that in January, 1891. Schroeder later stated that he had acquired an assignment of Calhoun's invention. Thereupon Mr. Newbold, because of such representation, paid Schroeder $130 with which to purchase a half interest in Calhoun's invention. Schroeder, on January 22, 1821 gave a receipt to Mr. Nowhold for the Calhoun's invention. Schroeder, on January 22, 1891, gave a receipt to Mr. Newbold for the money, reciting that it was on account of the purchase of a one-half interest in an invention of a billiard cue tip filed that day an invention of a billiard cue tip filed that way by John A. Calhoun. It afterward transpired, said the district attorney, that one Thomas impersonated the alleged Calhoun, signed the name of John A. Calhoun to the application at the request of Schroeder and that the applica-tion was sent to the patent office to be filed by Schneider's office boy. Calhoun's address was given in the application as Lexington. Tenn., where Schroeder told Mr. Newbold Calgiven him by Schroeder, but the letter was returned marked "no such person there." Schroeder upon being informed of this said that Calhoun was a clerk in the sixth auditor's office, but the records of the Subsequently Schroeder virtually admitted that he knew that Thomas and not Calhoun had

THE W. AND G. RAILROAD COMPANY. Directors Chosen at the Annual Meeting Held Today.

At the annual meeting of the Washington Georgetown Railroad Company held at the office of the company in Georgetown today directors were elected for the ensuing year as follows: Henry Hurt, Wm. R. Riley, Geo. T. Dunlop, Archibald H. Lowery, John G. Parke. into his house in an unconscious condition and John R. McLean and Robert Beall. The only medical aid summoned. Today the patient is change in the board is the election of Mr. Beall, resting easily and will soon be able to resume who was chosen to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Geo. A. McIlhenny.

It was stated that all the cable cars neede for the equipment of the 14th street line have arrived, and that the remaining cars ordered for the Navy Yard line are expected in a few days, when the road will be fully equipped.

Mr. Beall has for several years past been one of the most prominent of local street railroad many his energies having a very test this time. men, his energies having up to this time been devoted principally to the welfare of the Metropolitan Company. In 1884 Mr. Beall was placed on the directorate of the Metropolitan Street Railway company and up to within a month or so his connection with that corporation was un-broken. His practical knowledge of street railway and municipal matters naturally suggested his election to succeed Mr. McIlhenny.

To Compel Issuance of a Patent Caleb W. Durham has, by J. Nota McGill, filed a bill in equity against W. E. Simonds, commissioner of patents, to compel the issuance of a patent for drainage apparatus. He stated that he made application January 10, 1885, and after divers appeals and rehearings it was finally, on January 18 last, rejected; that ap-peal was taken to the Supreme Court of the District and the decision of the commissioner on June 13 was affirmed. He states that he beon June 13 was animmed. He states that he pelieves he is entitled to letters patent; that it was unknown prior to his invention or discovery and is of great commercial value, and he had placed it on the market and it has gone into general use, and sundry persons are making the devices and causing him great injury. He there-fore prays that he may be protected by a decree directing the patent to issue.

They Didn't Clean Off the Snow. The first case of failure to remove snow from pouring it along a rut in the floor. The water ran along this rut out into the cistern platform. While he was stooping to fill the cup from the rain pipe a flash of lightning came, seemingly attracted by the iron cistern pump. The current leaped from the pump to the current of water that ran along the porch and flashed along its course to the end. As providence, accident, ill-luck or something else would have it, our Thomas cat had come out from the kitchen and was standing close to the wet gutter made by pouring of the water. The cat received the full benefit of the flash and lay scorched and dead in an instant. Now, I saw that flash distinctly and saw it travel from the iron pump along that gutter to the cat. If my boy had been there the result would have been the same. If he had not, why I suppose it would have been attracted toward one of us and serious results might have followed. I slightly imagine that I owe my life to that cat's ill fate. I am much obliged to the cat."
